She really feels like a coordinated effort is going to be needed from various city departments (Legal, HPD, TABC, Health, ARA, Parking) to get at some of these really top offenders. We need to take a coordinated approach at these bars. She does want to say that the noise ordinance changes are moving along and they are expecting to present something in November to the committee. Council Member Alcorn thanked Mr. Berg for his continuing efforts to highlight these issues and that they are hearing him.

Members of Council commented on Mr. Berg's statement.

Mayor Turner asked if that was true and she stated that isn't true and they didn't tell him the full story. They told her that she can't ask for a zero balance, they would continue to charge her late fees and that she was wasting her time going to the Mayor. They are still forcing them to pay a higher bill than they normally do. Mayor Turner advised that they should be able to address that because the bills went up as a result of Winter Storm Uri. Council Member Pollard stated to Mayor Turner that Ms. Bryant has been diligent in her efforts to express her concerns regarding a contract dispute that she has with a particular prime. She has gone through length to stay in contact with his office, the Mayor’s office and OBO to try to find a resolution. That is why he thinks it’s so important to look at the Contract Compliance Commission and to make sure that it has an avenue for subcontractors. Right now, it’s primarily put in place to allow primes an opportunity to appeal. They really need to create language that will allow primes to have a third party that they can go before an actual Board or Commission for hearings based on their grievances. He also thinks that they need to have contingencies in place for primes. He truly thinks that these specific policies for them to look into to strengthen the MWBE program and to give subcontractors an opportunity to have their grievances held.

Mayor Turner stated that is a conversation that they can certainly have with Council Member Castex-Tatum as well as OBO because the changes, with respect to MWBE’s, all came back before the Economic Development Committee. He stated to Ms. Bryant that he would look into everything that she has presented.

Ms. Dotson advised that she only heard from Public Safety and not Legal. Mayor Turner asked her to get with Rene Ruiz to get the information and then they can follow up with her.

MAYOR'S REPORT

Mayor Turner stated that he wanted to start off congratulating the Houston Astros for their win over Chicago and now they are preparing to play the Boston Red Sox. With respect to vaccines, he still wants to encourage people to get their vaccines. As of October 10th, 77.4% of Houstonians have received their first dose and 66% are fully vaccinated. The Mayor's Youth Council started last night and it was good to meet all 19 of them here at City Hall. He's looking forward to working with them. On Saturday, the Houston Parks Department will host the third, "Love Our Park's Fest" at Woodruff Park. He is looking forward to being there on Saturday.

Last night was a great affair at the Houston Botanical Gardens with AAMA, with Council Members Cisneros and Gallegos. They are working to design and construct the Latino Cultural Arts Center and he certainly wants to encourage people to look into investing in that project. A lot of talent was displayed last night and it was a great moment. On a sad note, Shawn McLemore had passed away and there will be a celebration of life honoring the Houston gospel artist who died a few days ago. He will be deeply missed by his family and fans.
